

Margaret Evangelist McDonald was born on August 26, 1933 to Thomas and Jessie McDonald. She was the youngest of five children.

She went through 12 years of Catholic School, which she loved.

As a young woman, she met James Ferris, and married him in November 1956 and then had five children. Her loyal, loving, passionate spirit together with her great generosity blessed her children beyond measure - and also her grandchildren, who she simply cherished all the days of her life with them.

Margie's love and committed devotion to Jim, her husband, was priceless.

He loved to laugh with her.

She adored all the family gatherings endlessly. Her Irish background leant to such humor that all could depend on her cheerful laughter at each and every gathering that she attended.

Margie's love for her entire family was like the fresh morning dew for each day in all the seasons of life.

Margie's love to all who knew her will always be present in their hearts.
